The New York Central Railroad Company was brought to the bar in the United tates Circuit Court, Criminal Branch, for the second time yesterday to stand trial on a charge of giving rebates to the American Sugar Refining Company. The case of the Government was completed in remarkably quick time, and was all ready to go to the jury, except for summing up at the close yesterday afternoon.

The most interesting development of the trial came at the close, when announcement was made that a recess in the trial proper would be taken to-day in order hat Joseph H. Choate might address the court on the constitutionality of the Elkins law, or rather its applicability to the charge on which the railroad is being tried.

This charge sets forth the making of an arrangement between Lowell M. Palmer. traffic manager of the American Sugar Refining Company, and F. L. Pomeroy, assistant traffic manager for the ralroad, July, 1902, prior to the passage of the Elkins law, under which the road is being tried, to give and take rebates of six cents a hundred pounds off the schedule rate of 21 cents on all sugars for Cleveland. About $26,000 was paid over by the road in rebates after the passage of the act, it is further alleged.

The railroad company contends that the Elkins act contemplated no punishment for illegal shipments in the past, even if the moneys thereon were paid after the law was passed. There is a complementary indictment against the American Sugar Refining Company, which will be brought to trial immediately after the present trial is concluded. The indictments stand or fall together, and Mr. Choate will argue the point relating to the ex post facto character of the Elkins law on behalf of the two

It is understood that the American Sugar Refining Company will make a strong fight on its own behalf. Alton B. Parker has been retained in addition to Mr. Choate to aid in fighting the case. Mr. Parker will have entire charge of the trial, assisted by John E. Parsons and other members of the firm of Parsons, Closson & McIlvaine, counsel to the trust.

The railroad was represented vesterday by Austen G. Fox, John Lindsay and Albert H. Harris. United States District Attorney Henry L. Stimson, with his assistants, Henry A. Wise, Felix Frankfurter and Agent John W. H. Crim, who have prepared the enormous documentary evidence in the case, were present on behalf of the Government

The defendant has already demurred to the indictment on the ground which Mr. hoate will take up to-day in more extended fashion. Judge Holt, who is sitting in all the rebate cases, threw this out. Nevertheless, the attorneys for the road oursued tactics which gave the impression that they expect to win out ultimately on the point of the non-applicability of the Elkins law to the alleged illegal transactions The Government, on the other hand, will contend in its summing up to the jury, it is expected, that such a payment was all the more illegal in view of the fact that the railroad might well have refused to pay over the rebates on the ground that it was now illegal, although the arrangements for the payments had been made at a time wen they were not illegal.

It developed early in the trial that Messrs. Fox and Lindsay for the railroad had conceded the shipment of the sugars covered by ne indictment, and the existence of all the documentary evidence gathered by the Government showing all the transactions and the payments thereon which are alleged to constitute the crime of rebating. All has been conceded practically except the fact that the payments were rebates. There was a lively tilt between Messrs For and Stimson over what certain evidence tending to show plain discrimination was covered by this agreement between counsel. This was made interesting, however, only by the fact that Mr. Fox said:

"There's a good deal of talk in the air just have about a source deal, and I think we now about 'a square deal,' and I think we ought to have it."

Mr. Stimson rejoined with some heat that

Mr. Fox had no justification whatever in making such a remark. "As a matter of fact," he said, "what Mr. Fox calls a stipulation of fact made by agreement with us is no stipulation at all, but merely an admission of fact on their part, made to save the officials of the defendant railroad company the business inconvenience of coming cown here and testifying to the hundred and one transactions involved in these cases. If Mr. Fox wishes to withdraw his admission

If Mr. Fox wisness to windraw his admission he is at perfect liberty to do so."

Mr. Fox then stuck to the general admission. When Mr. Stimson proposed to put into evidence and read to the jury one of the letters in which Lowell M. Palmer one of the letters in which Lowell M. Palmer called on Pomeroy for the payment of claims alleged to be rebates, Mr. Fox said sirily, "Oh, we admit under the agreement that that letter was sent to Mr. Pomeroy. There are no two Richards in the field here."

It belonly interesting witness of the trial was Lowell M. Palmer, traffic manager and director of the American Sugar Refining Company in 1902, and the man who made call the arrangements for the alleged rebates. all the arrangements for the alleged rebates.

Mr. Palmer aroused some amusement by saying with a smile that he had no authority to adjust claims on behalf of the trust. Perhaps you can refresh your memory by a glance at this," said Mr. Stimson, by a giance at this." said Mr. Stimson, handing him a letter press book of the trust containing a copy of a letter written to Mr. Palmer by H. O. Havemeyer, head of the trust, early in 1902, giving him authority to adjust claims.

Yes, I see that this does give me authory to adjust claims, but not to make rates," and Mr. Palmer, who, probably against his will, will be the Government's star witness will, will be the Government's star witness in the trial of the sugar trust.

Mr. Palmer testified that he had a special bank account for the traffic department in the Market and Fulton National Bank, into which the moneys received from railroads went and out of which he paid the salaries of T. P. Riley, the big traffic expert of the trust, and the other men under him. "Did you go to see Mr. Pomeroy at his office in the Grand Central Station on July 1, 1902?" asked Mr. Stimson.

"I did."

I did."
And what did you say to him." I told him that our customers in the West and at Cleveland were complaining of the high schedule rate of 21 cents on sugars, and asking us to route their sugar via the all water route, which cost some thirteen cents a hundred only. Of course, this was much slower. But I told Mr. Pomeroy that our customers were threat-ening to transfer their trade to competitors who would route their sugar by water.
"Well, Mr. Pomeroy consented to make a rate for us. We had a talk, and Mr. Pom-rov's stenographer drew up a written memorandum of the arrangement we came to. You have that, I believe."

Mr. Stimson did, and proceeded to read to This contained several clauses, the arst of which were First-Sugars to be shipped at regular rate of 21 cents per hundred pounds. Second-L. M. Palmer to make personal aim for six cents refund per hundred I hird -Payment to be made by check or Claims were sent to Pomeroy by Falmer at regular intervals in the following six months, as alleged in the indictions. Pomeroy paid these in a lump, it was brought out, and in a rather unusual manner. of the rebates, $26,181, to lighterage, demurrage and the like, so that the railroad's books were straight. Pomeroy had the treasurer of the road buy a casifier's draft of the Bank of Buffalo on the Chemical Bank of New York on April 9, 1903. This was sent to Palmer, who deposited it in the Market and Fulton National Bank. The transactions were all safely covered, actransactions were all safely covered, ac-cording to the law at the time. But under the recent decision of the Supreme Court in Hale vs. Henkel the Federal authorities in Hale vs. Henkel the Federal authorities used their new right to require corporations to produce evidence in their hands even against themselves, and this check and the other documentary evidence were secured.

Mr. Fox again pursued tactics showing that the road relied on appeal and technical objections to defend his client. After his summing up the trial was adjuved till.

PAT KEENAN LEADER NO MORE. Nearly Seventy and Tired and Going Away for His Health

Patrick Keenan, the veteran Tammany eader of the Sixth Assembly district, has decided to sidestep the coming fight in the organization by retiring from the leadership of the district.

"I am an old man: I shall be 70 years old next St. Patrick's day, and I feel that I'm unequal to tackling the responsibilities and vorries of being a district leader any onger," he said last night. "I am in weak health also, and in a few days I am going to French Lick, Ind., and if I don't get any penefit there I shall go to Mount Clemens. Mich. I am not getting out because of any fear of taking sides, but because my health

"Do you intend to resign the office of City Chamberlain?" Mr Keenan was asked. "No," he replied. "I had a talk with the Mayor to-day and he told me to go away to some health resort and to stay as long as I wished. The Mayor said nothing to me which could be taken as an indication that he desires that I should resign."

The office of City Chamberlain is the most remunerative in the gift of the Mayor. The salary is $12,000 a year. The Mayor said: "I have no intention of asking Mr Keenan to resign; in fact, I have told him to take as long a leave of absence as he needs to get his health restored."

Mr. Keenan's district, which was at one time almost entirely filled with Irishmen, is now principally inhabited by Jews, and Mr. Keenan said vesterday that he expected his Reenan said yesterday that he expected his successor in the leadership would be a Jew. In that event the new leader will be David Lazarus, who is clerk to Justice Newburger. But William Hannah, who has been Mr. Keenan's principal lieutenant, and Municipal Court Justice Hoffman will undoubtedly make a fight for the place.

New York State Only Dissenter When Draft of Law Is Adopted.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.-At the closing ession of the National Divorce Congress to-night New York State delegates were the only dissenters to a draft of a uniform divorce law. All the other delegates voted for the measure. The sanction of New York was withheld because the draft of the new statute-recognizes more causes for divorce than the one statutory cause recognized in New York legislation. The draft will now be presented to the Legislatures of the different States for passage.

New York's action came as a surprise to the congress. That the State would abstain from voting was announced late this afternoon by Charles Thaddeus Terry, secretary of the New York delegates. Bishop Doane of Albany, who addressed the congress at its conclusion, said he was anxious that the action of the congress in arpearing to recognize in the proposed statutes any more than one cause of divorce should not be interpreted as meaning any-should not be interpreted as meaning any-thing except that the congress recognized that other causes were actually recognized in the existing legislation of various States and that therefore they should be conidered in general.

In addition to the proposed statute regarding the granting of divorces, two garding the granting of divorces, two other acts were recommended to the Legis-latures of the several States for passage, one relating to the collection of statistics on the divorce question and the other re-lating to similar statistics regarding the suance of marriage licenses.

A proposition to forbid the solicitation f divorce business by lawyers under enalty of fine and imprisonment encountered unexpected opposition and was finally withdrawn by unanimous consent in the midst of a roll call which had showed a clear majority in its favor. Vice-Chan-cellor Emery of New Jersey declared that the proposed act was too drastic and would forbid a lawyer even undertaking the case of a friend he knew was contemplating bringing divorce proceedings.

STRIKE TALK IS DYING OUT.

THE SUN. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1906.

RAILROAD CONFERENCES ARE PROCEEDING PEACEFULLY.

The Militant Hannahan Goes West, but He'll Be Back on the Job in a Few Days-Electrification of the Eric Suburban Lines Complicates the Problem.

There was little left vesterday of the strike talk among the representatives of the employees of the railroads at the Broadway Central Hotel which was started last week by the warlike declaration of Grand Chief Hannahan of the Brotherhood of Locanotive Firemen relative to a strike of the Erie firemen. He has indulged in no strike predictions for the last two days. He left New York yesterday for Peoria. Ill., and will not be back until to-morrow or Saturday. Before he went away he said that he was going to attend to some personal business. He continued: "Matters are in such shape that I can easily leave the city for the present, but I will be back as soon as I have arranged some meetings. Indications are that there will not be any trouble."

It was said that Hannahan may see President Underwood of the Erie before he comes back. He declined to show the letter from President Underwood about which there has been such a difference of opinion, and said the vote as to a strike would be in when summing up the trial was adjourned till he got back. The general idea concerning the vote which was going the rounds yesterday was that it was not for the purpose of ordering a strike, but simply to ascertain how the men stood as to the demands. If it is in favor of enforcing the demands Hannahan will be guided by it in his future movements but could sanction a strike later if he, thought it expedient. Meantime the railroad companies are proceeding as if there had been no strike talk. There was a rumor that the wages of all the men at the terminals of the railroads at Jersey City are likely to be increased soon. This, however, was in contemplation before there was any suggestion of a strike.

Grand Chief Warren S. Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers left the city late on Tuesday night, leaving Assistant Grand Chief Hurley in charge. The latter said that the engineers wanted the eight hour workday on the slow freight

"It could be easily arranged," he said,
"by adding to the speed of the slow freight trains. Those which plod along at ten miles an hour could have their speed increased to twelve miles by drawing fewer

In reference to statements that there was a national federation of railway em-ployees and that a strike could not take place in one branch without taking place n all, he said:
"I believe there was such a federation

some years ago, but it does not exist now. There may be some systems that are feder-ated, but each branch has its own methods. If there is a strike in one branch it does not follow by any means that the members of the other brotherhoods would strike. I see no signs of a strike in the present situaion, however.

The adjustment committee of the engineers of the New York Central began yesterday their conferences with the officials at the Grand Central Station. All that Chairman Watson of the committee would say yesterday was that he believed everything would be satisfactorily ad-

The Erie engineers continued their conferences with Assistant General Manager Stone of the Erie in the Bowling Green for the electrification of the suberban lines in New Jersey. The statement continued: "There will be about 275 miles of the "There will be about 275 miles of these lines which will be electrified. No arrangement can be made until the plans are under way for the employment of the force to run them. The engineers may e employed as motermen, but in the case of an old engineer and a young fireman the latter would have the best chance of becoming a motorman, as a young man could learn a new system as a rule much more easily than an old man. An engineer who has feen forty years at the throttle would find it hard to learn a radically new system. No one could possilly forsee at the present time exactly what proportion of the men could be employed under the electric system, as the change in the conditions will be a new proposition which cannot be settled theoretically."

The railroad emplo ees who are at the Broadwa. Central Hotel reported last night that the firemen on the divisions on the Erie line from Port Jervis to Susquehanra and from Susquehanra to Hornell had voted nously for a strike

Chicago have decided to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to arbitrate the dispute between them and their locomotive engineers as to an increase in wages. The engineers ask an increase averaging 14 per cent.

The Brotherhood has declared that the roads must deal collectively with it and that one road shall not settle the matter with s own engineers, as has been the custom. Officials of the railways have 'agreed that instead of selecting a committee to confer with the Brotherhood they would prefer to have both sides submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

RUMORS SCARE DEPOSITORS.

RUN ON THE NEW BRUNSWICK SAVINGS INSTITUTION.

Bank Keeps Open Till 6 P. M. to Pay Panicstricken, Who Will Lose Six Months Interest -Rush of Capitalists to Support the Institution, Which is Solid.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 14 .- A man who formerly kept a dive in Burnet street went to the New Brunswick Savings Institution several days ago with a passbook belonging to his sister and asked for the balance in her name. According to custom the bank declined to give it. That angered the man and it is alleged he went about circulating false reports about the bank. These caused a run to-day on the institution, which has 8,000 de positors, deposits of $3,000,000 and a surplus of $330,000.

Many depositors scoffed at the rumors and went about their work without withdrawing their funds. Others, mostly foreigners, and in many cases women, began to withdraw their money about 10 o'clock this morning, so that at 2 this afternoon the bank was busy paying out money and checking up the passbooks. The bank managers voted to keep open till 8 P. M. The usual hour of closing is 4. Depositors crowded the bank and overflowed on the sidewalk.

Congressman Benjamin F. Howell, president of the People's National Bank and vice-president of the savings institution. said: "There is absolutely no reason for uneasiness about the savings institution. Only a few days ago John Waldron and I. in the regular course of our duties, went over every security in the bank and found them intact. I can give my assurance that the bank is perfectly sound.

The Rev. J. A. Dewald, pastor of the German Lutheran Church, went among the Germans in the crowd of depositors advising them to leave their money in the bank. V. M. W. Suydam, president of the National Bank of New Jersey, said that the run on the savings institution was a senseless thing. It would injure only the depositors who drew out their savings. He said he would be willing to cash all the books that came to him, provided the holders would give him the five months interest which they would lose by drawing their accounts. His bank, he said, was willing to loan the savings institution all the money needed to satisfy the demands of its depositors.

The bank is sound and in better con-dition than ever in its history. Its securi-ties are in excellent shape, and if people withdraw their money I am sorry for them, withdraw their money I am sorry for them, because they will simply lose the six months interest which is declared January 1."

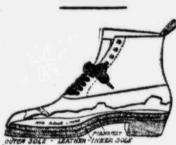

About 2:30 this afternoon, Millard F. Ross, a director of the New Brunswick Trust Company, entered the savings bank with Dr. Frank M. Donohue, Mr. Ross mounted a settee-and said: "I wish to say that I believe this bank to be as sound an institution as there is in the country. And

Many citizens forced their way to the teller's window and made large deposits to show their faith in the bank.
